

VALUE OF IMPORTS MAY BE FIXED BY M'ADOO

Simmons Gives Approval to Dennison's Suggestion for Tariff Bill Amendment.

PREVENTIVE OF FRAUD

Reduction on Goods Carried in American Bottoms Might Violate Treaty—Talk of Time Extension for Textile Industries.

[From The Tribune Bureau.] Washington, May 10.—Minor modifications in the Underwood tariff bill were discussed today by Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Secretary Redfield, Assistant Attorney General W. T. Denison and James F. Curtis, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

The suggestion was made by Mr. Denison, of the Department of Justice, and Mr. Curtis, of the Treasury Department, that the administrative problems of the bill could be simplified by an amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to fix the value of goods imported on an ad valorem basis. Much litigation could be avoided by such a provision, and the work of the general board of appraisers reduced.

"The bill as it is," said Chairman Simmons, "has many safeguards against undervaluations, but the proposal to empower the Secretary of the Treasury to fix import valuations in the American market would be an additional check. It would answer the principal objection advanced toward an ad valorem tariff system. The suggestion will be given the most serious consideration."

The plan will be taken up by the committee next week. Chairman Underwood of the Ways and Means Committee also was consulted by Mr. Denison and Mr.
Curtis.

Appeals May Be Unlawful.

Another amendment proposed would make it unlawful for any person to take up appeals from appraised valuations on a contingent fee basis. Assistant Attorney General Denison said today that the amendment with the provision already in the bill requiring a fee of $1 for all protests and appeals would curtail customs litigation 50 per cent.

Secretary Redfield also took up with Senator Simmons the question whether or not the provision for a 5 per cent reduction on goods imported in American bottoms was in contravention of the most favored nation clause of practically all the commercial treaties now in force with foreign countries, and the advisability of postponing the application of the Democratic tariff rates to the textile industries for a period of six days to enable them to dispose of their stocks.

It is probable that some change will be made by the Finance Committee in the provision relating to the importation of goods in American bottoms. Some of the Democratic members of the committee are inclined to believe that this is in contravention of existing treaties, and although Secretary Redfield was non-committal in the matter, the discussion today indicates that the administration itself entertains misgivings about the propriety of the exception in favor of American shipping.

The time for putting into effect the income tax section of the bill was also a question suggested to the Finance Committee. Some difficulty might be encountered if the proposed law were to go into effect immediately on passage of the bill, in view of the fact that there is still some question as to the validity of the amendment because of the error of one of the states. A suggestion made by Secretary Redfield referred to the advisability of having the income tax computed from July 1, 1913, instead of January 1, 1913.

The recalcitrants, who shook the confidence of the Democratic majority in the Senate yesterday by threatening to vote for hearings by the Finance Committee, were brought into line today. The indications now are that when the Senate meets next Tuesday the bill will be referred to the Finance Committee without instructions to grant hearings. The Louisiana Senators alone remain unshaken in their purpose to do everything possible to obstruct the passage of the measure.

RICHES LURE FRIEDMANN

Altruism Not Dwarfed by Money, He Declares.

EHRlich HIS EXEMPLAR

Spurred by Eisner, Turtle Germ Discoverer Feels Government Surgeons Are Wrong

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, against his will and at the instance of his patron, Moritz Eisner, gave out yesterday a statement, in which the turtle germ discoverer attempted to answer his critics generally. The statement also was intended particularly to be a reply to the report made by the surgeons of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service the day before to the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. The government surgeons had declared "that the effects thus far observed (in the government tests) conducted in New York hospitals) do not justify the confidence in the remedy, which has been inspired by widespread publicity."

Dr. Friedmann's statement, however, makes only a scant reference to this criticism, and is largely a defence of, or an apology for, his commercialization of the turtle germ vaccine, which, he maintains, is a cure for tuberculosis. The doctor hitherto had denied he was interested in the financial returns to be derived from the Eisner venture.

"Upon my return from Canada, where I have treated my patients," says he, "I find there has been such criticism in some of the papers that I feel it my duty, regardless of my personal inclinations, to call some attention to facts in connection with this matter. To begin with, I should like to point out that all adverse reports, including those in the medical papers, direct most of their criticism against the commercialization of the vaccine."

Quoting Ehrlich, Dr. Friedmann says:
"I have never been able to figure out how suffering humanity benefits from the fact that the discoverer of any given remedy emerges from his work empty-handed."

"Nor do I," adds Dr. Friedmann, "feel it necessary to apologize for having thus taken the same position as such men as Professor Ehrlich, the noted discoverer of salvarsan (1906), and Professor Behring, whose antitoxin for diphtheria has robbed that dread disease of its terrors."

Other features of Dr. Friedmann's statement are recitals of alleged improvements in patients and Ehrlich's reported commendation, not of Friedmann himself, but of "Friedmann's staunch adherent, Professor Schleich, of Berlin."

The statement concludes:
"As to the preliminary United States government report published in the papers, I can say only that the physicians who made it have my utmost respect, and I am certain when the time for the complete test of my vaccine has passed those gentlemen as well as the medical fraternity in general will share my convictions as to its merits."
